CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 20.—For a Saturday, wheat had a strong, active session, the speculative contingent imbibing courage from the exports and rumors of exports. Yesterday's buying at the seaboard was still the subject of talk at the opening to-day, and before the close there were rumors of bids on large quantities at San Francisco, which lifted prices a few fractions further. The reports from the Pacific coast were received with a certain amount of doubt, but they nevertheless had some effect. "Calls" checked the advance for a time, but the seiling against those privileges was finally exhausted, and prices made further gains. December wheat opened at 55°c, soild between 53°5°c, and 52°5°c, and closed at 53°4 at 50°c, soild between 53°5°c, and 52°5°c, and closed at 53°4 at 50°c, soild between 53°5°c, and 52°5°c, and closed at 53°4 at 50°c, soild between 53°5°c, and 50°c, and corn corn being heard. May corn opened at 60°c, soild between 40°c, and 50°c, closing at the latter, 15°c, higher than yesterday. Cash corn was 15°c, to 15°c, per bushel higher.

Outs did not present any greater activity than is usually seen on Saturday. Fluctuations were narrow, with the tone of wheat, and corn ruling them per bushel higher.

Oats did not present any greater activity than is usually seen on Saturday. Fluctuations were narrow, with the tone of wheat, and corn ruling them. May closed a shade better than yesterday. Cash oats were firm without change in quotations.

Provisions—There seems to be no merit in product, owing to the continued weakness and depression in the live hog market. Further loss to prices at the yards this morning was fellowed by consistent weakness in provisions. The atrength in grain before the close caused a slight improvement, January pork closing Tychicher than yesterday, January lard a shade lower, and January ribs a fraction higher.

GRANT'S ACCEPTANCE.

HOW HIS NOMINATION FOR MAYOR OF NEW YORK IS REGARDED.

The Democratic Leaders in Washington Believe It Will Strongthen the Ticket, President Cleveland's Silence.

TIMYS BUREAU, RAPLEY BUILDING. WASHINGTON, October 20, 1894.

The withdrawal of Nathan Straus as the regular Democratic nominee for the mayoralty of New York and the sub-sequent reluctant acceptance of Hugh Grant as head of the local ticket, and the final effect of this action upon the situation in general, was the subject of the political gossip here this morning. The withdrawal of Straus was not unexpected by the managers and party leaders, for they knew Senator Hill well enough to know that he was not going to have his canvass for the governorship complicated by placing his name on any of the tickets presented by any faction or even the city ticket, where the local opposition to the Tammany candidates might cost him many voices. They also knew that Straus was greatly disappointed when he learned that he was to make the race upon his own personal merits and the Tammany strength, and he felt aggrieved that Hill should intimate that he as candidate for Governor would expect a certain following in New York city, which straus could not get. Of course the Republicans at once set up the cry that the retirement of Straus would lose to the Democrats the Hebrew vote of the city but this the managers declare to be untrue, as the personal relationship is so strong between Grant was managing the Straus canvass will serve to hold in line these votes. Then, too, in his letter of declination Straus assures the Tammany leaders of his support and work in the interest of Democratic success. This will be the fourth time that High J. Grant has been before the New York people as a candidate for the mayorality; once he was defeated and twice elected, the last election being in 1890, and for the past two years he has practically kept aloof from politics. The Democratic generally claim that Grant can poll the full vote of the party will ensue by the withdrawal of Straus.

WILL CLEVELAND BEMAIN SILENT? unexpected by the managers and party leaders, for they knew Senator Hill well

Even the excitement incident to the change in New York city has not been sufficient to cause the party leaders to speculate upon the probabilities of the letter from Mr. Cleveland endorsing the speculate upon the probabilities of the letter from Mr. Cleveland endorsing the Hill ticket in the State. Some of them are getting uneasy about the matter now, however, and claim that the President knows the importance of this step upon his part, and also the necessity for prompt action, and, therefore, should not hesitate to cast his strength into the struggle, as the party all over the country is anxious for him to do. Still the days go by and the Chief Magistrate is supremely happy at play with his boat in the bay, and apparently indifferent to the carnest wishes of those who "long for the touch of a vanished hand, and the sound of a voice that is still."

It begins to look as if Timothy J. Campbell, the famous classical scholar, inthor and statesman, would be re-elected to Congress as an independent against the regular Tammany nominee, Harry Miner. Tim has now received the Republican nomination, in addition to that of four of the Democratic clubs, but if he is elected it will be by the Republicans, and we will have the spectacle next December of having him in Congress as a Democrat, and re-elected for the Fifty-fourth Congress as a Republican, and it takes a politician of about Tim's calibre to be consistent and keep even all around under such circumstances. TIM MAY GET IN.

THE BIG DEMOCRATIC MAJOR The campaign of their work, and it is likely that before another week is ended the headquarters will be left in the hands of the clerks. The campaign literature for both parties has about all been distributed, and the finances have been apportioned to the various districts. There is one thing certain—that Virginia did not get any great monetary advantage from either of the two committees, and that the Populists received larger contributions from their committee here than either the Republicans or Democrats.

The Republican candidates, however, have not been at all "backward about coming forward," and asking for all they could get, and only this week Messrs. Robert J. Walker, of the Seventh, and J. J. McDonald, of the First, have been in the city, and pald a "social" call upon the managers at Republican headquarters.

VIRGINIA DEMOCRATIC ASSOCIATION. The Virginia Democratic Association he District have arranged for redu ales for all of the voters here who w rates for all of the voters here who want to go into the State to vote, and Secretary Harper said this morning that he was having constant application from the Democratis here for transportation, indicating that all who can possibly get away will return to vote.

Sheriff Kennedy, of Stafford county, arrived this morning from Eichmond, and left at once for Cumberland. He was prepared with requisition papers for the return of Searcy, the man held by the Maryland authorities for complicity in the recent train robbery at Aquia creek.

THE ALIXANDRIA PARE TRACE,

The beautiful October weather of the past week has been of the greatest benefit to the new race track at the Alexandria Park, and with each succeeding day the attendance has increased and the interest heightened. The very exceptional class of racing events, and the splendid manascement and control of the grounds and stands have been unstintedly praised by the leading Virginians who have attended. State Senator Henry Pairfax, who has served as one of the stewards during the week, left this morning for Loudoun, but will return on Monday.

Mr. McIntyre, secretary of the association, has mailed to-day to Mr. W. D. Chesterman, president of the Old Dominion Press Ciub, an invitation to the members of the club to visit the races some day next week as the guests of the association. He hopes that as many of the members as can will come, and there is no doubt of a very pleasant day for the boys who do come, and now that the Richmond Exposition has closed Mr. McIntyre thinks that fifteen or twenty of the newspaper men might be well entertained for a day or two at the Alexandria Park, and he will be disappointed if they fail to accept his profered hospitality.

Sales of loose bright tobaccos of the breaks have been heavy this week. On Thursday one of the largest tobaccos warehouses was crowded out, and on yesterday, with the exception of the stop for dinner, the sales lasted the entire day. In spite of the full breaks the percentage of wrappers in the offerings was extremely small. The breaks show fine color, and the cigarette and smoking tobaccor crowd are reaping a harvest, while their line.
